VIRGIL DECKER TO SERVE A LIFE TERM

not passed and will be held up to give to counsel for the defense an opportunity to file the customary motion for new trial.

The jury, it was reported, took five ballots. On the first ballot all were in favor of conviction, and the succeeding ballots were on the question of the punishment to be inflicted, a number favoring electrocution.

Virgil Decker's conviction has now cleared up the Decker murder mystery, which, since March 12, has been attracting the attention of the entire country.

The mystery started with the finding of a boy's body on the Pennsylvania railroad near Atwood after a Pennsylvania freight train had struck a carriage from which the horse had been detached. The body was taken to a hospital in Bourbon, Ind., where death resulted the following morning.

Letters found in the clothing were addressed to James Leroy Decker, and the body was identified by Mrs. Lydia Decker as that of her son, and by Fred and Calvin Decker as that of their brother, Virgil.

Investigation by Pennsylvania detectives and Kosciusko County authorities indicated murder. The carriage tracks were found to lead to a deserted cabin on the Tippecanoe River. The cabin showed signs of a death struggle.

Later it was learned that Virgil Decker was accompanied from Elkhart by Leroy Lovett, who was Virgil's "double" in appearance, and the automobile in which they made the trip was found outside the cabin.

Samuel Lovett, father of Leroy Lovett, then identified the body as that of his son, while members of the Decker family continued to claim the body as that of Virgil.

Hint of a murder plot followed the disclosure that Virgil Decker carried $24,000 life insurance, payable to his brother, Fred Decker, and all of which had been taken out in a period of less than two weeks, shortly before the murder, and that the last $5,000 policy was delivered on the day of the murder.

Amusements

Vaudeville and Pictures Tonight

Douglas MacLean is featured tonight at the Princess in "One A Minute" which is said to be a high class comedy. In connection with the picture, two added attractions of vaudeville will be offered, which are Morris and Marcella in a singing talking and dancing act, and Carson and company in a comedy novelty act, both of which were greeted by large crowds last night and highly praised.

Local play-goers have a real treat offered them in Wanda Hawley's latest picture, "The House That Jazz Built", which will be shown Monday and Tuesday at the Princess. For clean, wholesome comedy, and a story about real folks, few plays of the season have equalled it.

The story is a clever and entertaining one of a woman who nearly loses her husband because she grows lazy, careless and finally unattractive under the temptation of too much luxury. The fault is partly the husband's for petting and indulging her so much, but, of course, he heaps all the reproaches upon her and departs in a rage NEVER to return!

Comedy is revoked when the young wife, again trained down to fitness, brings back a repentant husband, to the vast discomfiture of the vamp who almost won him. All in all it is exceptionally amusing fun treatment of a situation that has been duplicated many times in real life. Saturday Evening Post readers will recall the original story, "Sweetie Peach", and undoubtedly find added interest in the manner in which the idea has been placed on the silver sheet.

Actor "Knocked Out"

Those who are vanquished in the ring are usually forgotten heroes in a very short time but inasmuch as the first bout of Georges Carpentier in America was for motion picture purposes only, no disgrace attaches itself to the actor who was his opponent and who, by pre-arrangement, was knocked out after four fast rounds.

The actor in question was Robert Barrat and Barrat's hobby has been boxing. As an amateur he holds several championships of actors' clubs in New York but when he donned the gloves with Carpentier it was the first time the general public had had the opportunity to judge of his prowess.

"Bob" Barrat, as he is generally known in the profession is six feet in height, weighs 177 pounds, has a chest measurement of 42 and a 29 inch waist. He has a reach of 75 inches. All these figures are slightly in excess of Carpentier's measurements but Barrat has not got Carpentier's sturdy legs. Physically, therefore, Barrat and Carpentier

SETTLEMENT OF BONUS QUESTION AT HAND

Early Enactment of Soldier Adjustment Compensation Bill Predicted by Sen. Penrose

BILL SAME AS FIRST FORMED

(By United Press)

Washington, June 11.—Settlement of the "bonus" question is at hand. Early enactment of the soldier adjustment compensation bill to reimburse 4,800,000 men and women who served in the world war was predicted today by Senator Penrose, chairman of the senate finance committee.

Since the first cash payment provided in the bill will not begin until July 1, 1922, Senator Penrose said there is no necessity to await the enactment of tariff and tax revision measures.

Revenue raising feature which must originate in the house having been eliminated from the measure will soon have the bill before it.

The bill is substantially the same as when it was first formed. No definite plans of raising the revenues to meet the requirements of the measure has been settled upon, according to Penrose.

LESSONS IN BASEBALL

By J. B. SHERIDAY
AUTHOR OF "BASEBALL FOR BEGINNERS"

Copyright, 1921, by The International Syndicate

POINTERS FOR YOUNG CATCHERS

The catcher who does clean work, does not drop the ball, who throws quickly ahead of the runner, is a valuable asset especially to an amateur club. There are few good catchers. The fact that the wires of the mask interfere with their vision, handicaps many young players so that they give up the effort to catch. The things a catcher should remember are:

1. Throw it right on the toes of the runner. If the baseman is not in position to take the throw, send the ball about three feet over the bag.
2. INSTANTLY, WHEN THE BALL IS HIT, GET RID OF THE MASK. This is most important.
3. Stand as close to the plate as the bat swing will permit.
4. Learn to throw to all three bases.
5. Touch runners upon the feet

PERKINS (ATHLETICS) THROWING

The brilliant young catcher of the Athletics takes but one step to throw. He stands straight behind the plate, feet parallel, then steps across with his left foot (just one step) to make his throw. Many good catchers step into position to throw as they take the ball, changing first the left foot, then the right foot, then receive the ball and take a short step to throw. The fewer steps taken the better. It is impossible to take more than one step to throw, though the catcher may step into position to take the throwing step as he receives the ball.

1. Do not drop pitched or thrown balls.
2. Do as much of your receiving as possible IN FRONT OF THE RIGHT SHOULDER, so that you will always be in a position to throw.
3. Keep some part of your body in front of the ball as you receive it from the pitcher. Do not get into the habit of receiving the pitch on either side.
4. Never, if possible, receive a pitch on the left side. Shift your feet so as to get your right shoulder in front of the pitch if possible.
5. As you receive the pitch always shift your feet so as to be in position to throw to base as soon as you get hold of the ball. Make the shift of the feet before or as you receive the ball, not after you receive it. To wait until you receive the ball before shifting feet means a too great loss of time. Be in position to throw when you receive the ball. Do not take more than one step to throw.
6. Throw as quickly as possible but not so quickly that you cannot get a good throwing grip on the ball and put a lot of speed on it. Don't sacrifice speed of throw to getting the ball away quickly. Practice will teach you more about this.
7. Throw the ball to the baseman in good time rather than try to not upon the knees, hips or shoulders.
8. Make the throwing motion short and in front of the shoulder. Do not go away back to make your throw.
9. Keep the fingers pointing upwards when you receive the ball.
10. Never, if you possibly can avoid it, receive a pitch low and on the left side.
11. Do not let your pitcher throw low or slow balls with runners on bases.
12. Hold runners close to bases by throwing there frequently. See that your pitcher holds his runners close to bases.
13. Get into the habit of calling all plays for the infielders. The moment the ball is hit call the infielder who is to take it and tell him where to throw. Learn the proper play to cover a base if the ball is in the outfield.
14. Bestride the plate when waiting for a runner to come in. Let him slide between your legs. Blocking runners is permissible only in games where the score is close and where a run will tie or put the opposing team ahead.
15. Always, always, throw overhand.
16. Never give up a foul fly. Chase it.
17. Back up first base on all throws made to that point.

In Memoriam
In loving memory of Sally Younger who died June 11, 1920.
You are gone but not forgotten
Never shall your memory fade
Sweetest thoughts will ever linger
Around the spot where you are laid.
How sweet is the memory still
A happy home we once enjoyed
But death has left a loneliness
Which never can be filled.
Dearest wife and mother how we miss you
Tears in silence often flow
Memory keeps you ever near us
Though you died one year ago
Sadly missed by Husband, Sons and Daughter. A. M. YOUNGER 7741 AND FAMILY.

SIMS IS ORDERED TO THIS COUNTRY
(By United Press)
Washington, June 11—Secretary of the Navy Denby today ordered Rear Admiral Sims to return to this country and report to him immediately.
Denby sent the following cable to Sims: "You will return to the United States immediately and report at once in person to the secretary of navy." Acknowledged.
Denby sent the cable before receiving any reply from Sims in reply to a previous cable asking the admiral to advise the navy department whether the remarks given on the Irish sympathizers before the English Speaking Union had been correctly quoted.
Some navy officials believe Denby sent the cablegram today because he was angered at the delay in the Sims answer to his first cable and because Sims continued making speeches. What action Denby will take when Sims returns was subject for speculation today.
London, June 11—"The peace and progress of the world depends upon the cooperation of the English speaking people", Admiral Sims told the American League Luncheon Club here Friday.
"If that is objectionable", he added, "make the best of it".
Sims declared his anti-Sinn Fein talk before the English Speaking union was the same thing he had said in numerous lectures in America. "I intend to keep on doing the same thing", he declared.
Sims refused to make public his reply to Secretary Denby's query as to whether he had been quoted correctly. The admiral dispatched his answer immediately after receiving the official copy of the cable.
Washington, June 11—George Harvey, United States ambassador to London and Admiral W. S. Sims, now in London, are the "Gold Dust Twins" in representing the United States in England, Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, said in the senate in discussing the recent utterance of the two.
First taking up Sims' speech of Tuesday night regarding Sinn Feiners in the United States, Harrison urged the senate naval affairs committee to act promptly on the resolution adopted directing it to investigate the Sims speech.
"His speech was an outrage for such an high official to deliver", said Harrison. "And as the secretary of navy has taken no action on the recent reply from Sims, I hope congress would take some action".
Harvey's speech, Harrison stated, should be kept fresh in the minds of the senators. Harvey, said Harrison, insulted not only part of the American people as Sims had, but all true Americans by his statement that the United States went into the war solely to save ourselves.
Children's Day will be observed Sunday evening at eight o'clock at the Pleasant Ridge M. E. church with an appropriate program. Sunday services will be: Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.; preaching services at 10:30 a. m. by the pastor, the Rev. R. A. Ulrey; Children's Day program at night. The public is invited to attend each of these services.
SOLDIER IS RELEASED
A soldier was detained here this afternoon by the police, after a wild search was made for him through the western portion of the city, the complaint being registered against him from Connorsville to the effect that he had stolen a horse and buggy and driven it to Glenwood, where he abandoned it, and came here on a car. When first found he was in the Big Four station, but soon made his get-away, and was found near Seventh street along the railroad. Ad-vice from Connorsville stated that they did not want him, as the rig had been recovered.
the sixteenth birthday of Miss Una Spencer of Newcastle, Ind. The guests enjoyed the evening with music and games.
Mrs. Marion Fletcher delightfully entertained the members of the Inter-Nos club last Thursday afternoon at her home west of Rushville. Mrs. Byron Gates read unusually interesting details concerning Abraham Lincoln from a biography of which only a few copies were ever published and which is now in the possession of Mrs. W. W. Wilcox of Rushville. Miss Ethel Posz read a humorous selection and a musical program was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The next meeting of the club will be held with Mrs. Ernest Corrie.

ARTISTIC DEMONSTRATION BY THE DUNNING CLASS
One of the most artistic finished and charming musical events of the season was the Dunning musical demonstration and piano recital given by the pupils of Mrs. Lucy Meredith last evening at the United Presbyterian church. The skill and talent displayed on the part of the children was extraordinary, as exemplified in their transposition and modulation; a marked feature was the playing of accompaniments by the boys and girls which is unusual in such young artists. This was, perfectly done, as was the chorus singing and the numbers given by the beginning class.
The list of pupils included: Jean Craig, Mildred Casady, Laurett Abercrombie, Juanita Rucker, Dorothy McKee, Marjorie Anderson, James Mull, Justine Green, Lowell Craig, Anna Rebecca Allen, Lucile Haselby, Beatrice Haselby, Thelma Jackson, Elus May Wiley, Margery Mull, Virginia Carter, Alice Anderson, Isabel Schrader, Wilbur Easley, Janie Me-cree, Gertrude Snodgrass, Mary Gale, Margaret Winship, Merrill Talbert, James Carr, Robert Pittman, Olive Logan, Verill Daubenspeck, Eugene Engle, Roberta Hayes, Mary Elizabeth Trabue, Donald Dean, Kathryn Green and Louise Pitman.
The church, including the first floor and balcony, was filled with people and the audience was very attentive during the entire two-hour program.
DEAD LEGION HEAD MOURNED AT HOME

braith have arrived for the funeral. The brothers, John S. Galbraith, professor at Williams College and A. W. Galbraith, principal of Williston College, East Hampton, Mass., are at the home of Sayward Galbraith, another brother. They were accompanied by Gilmore Galbraith, a son of Colonel Galbraith, who was in college at East Hampton. These, with the exception of Fredericka, the three-year-old daughter, who is in Michigan, completed the family circle for the funeral.
Many incidents served to make the funeral of Colonel Galbraith one of the most impressive ever witnessed here. In the funeral procession was his old horse, Robert Allen, a beautiful animal presented to him by the Business Men's Club when Colonel Galbraith's regiment was training at Camp Sheridan, Ala. The horse, with trappings draped and the saddle reversed, appeared in the funeral procession led by a sergeant.
